Very good professor, but just a very hard subject to learn. I think more worksheets would've helped me get a better grade in this class

My professor is always willing to help, and he responds to emails very quickly. This is very beneficial to my classmates.

Was a great teacher who made me understand the concepts and seemed to really care about the class and how people did on the tests and quizzes.

Dan was a fantastic instructor

Professor took the time to help students who couldn't make it to office hours and always ensured students understood what was happening either within class period or in office hours/by appointment

Very good teacher overall.

Professor Hayes was a fantastic professor. He was always available, responded to emails quickly, and was very helpful during office hours. His lectures were easy to understand and he always asked the class if anyone was confused or had questions or concerns.

Very professional and engaging Professor.

Dan is a great guy! He's a very understanding professor and wants his students to succeed.

He made me feel like even if I wasn't good at math, I am doing my best and that's all I can do

Professor Hayes was very understanding and very easy to talk to he cares about his students and wants them to succeed.

I have taken this course before, and if I were to compare both, Professor Daniel Hayes would be my pick every time. He made material I found difficult in the past seem simpler and paced the course excellently with his students' needs. Overall, he was a great professor, and I enjoyed his course.

Lectures are easy to follow and guided very well. Questions are answered to the best of ability and usually satisfying.

All classes were used to learn the material and allowed us to practice on our own. He is very fair with grading.

This was one of the first math classes that I have had in a while that was actually well-explained and not extremely stressful.

nope

Hayes is a nice, understanding professor. He always seemed well put together and communicative when things came up

Daniel Hayes is a amazing professor and helped me very well throughout the semester. I am very thankful to have a professor like him.

Dr.dan is such a good teacher

None.

I think the professor wasn't always fully prepared/didn't fully understand what he was teaching. Often we would take notes in class and then the next class he would go back on something he said in the previous class and fix it. He also had told us there was no new material to teach after Thanksgiving break and that we would just be reviewing for the exam, but then lectured new material for two classes after break.

He seemed so bored with what he was actually teaching. He didn't appear to be enthusiastic at all, but was always nice to us and pretty understanding. He always responded to questions efficiently, in person or via email.

Professor Hayes has been a very good instructor; I think any challenges with the course were due to the chose textbook and difficulty applying our material to poorly worded problems.
